Insurance Program and Youth Center Staffing Occupy Council's Attention

by Bernice Kastner

Last Tuesday night saw City Council finish the last part of a 27-item agenda, with most of the evening's discussion concerning insurance. Council agreed to cover the city manager and city treasurer each by a $10,000 bond, with a $1,000 blanket policy on the other city employees. (Insurance coverage of the treasurer and manager is required by the Charter.) General Insurance Company was the low bidder. Fireman's Fund Group Insurance was the low bidder for burglary insurance.

A request from the recreation director, James Wooldridge for a part-time cashier for paid programs was considered by council. The request stated that it was not possible for the Youth Center personnel to act as cashiers, and at the same time properly supervise the program. Some councilmen questioned the necessity for a cashier, pointing out that there are two recreation directors, as well as a paid worker provided by the County two nights a week. Council decided to hold the request and place it on the agenda for the next meeting. In the interim, Mayor Francis White asked for a schedule of Youth Center activities, showing which personnel were on duty during particular programs. Councilman Dave Champion suggested that Wooldridge be invited to discuss the matter at the next meeting.

Land Fill

Fritz Schrom, who is clearing the land for the Bresler developments, appeared at the meeting to discuss the use of fill dirt made available from the land grading. The plan is to place the surplus material below the dam at the lake to enlarge the recreation area. Schrom also suggested methods of improving the condition of the lake when the State Fish and Game Commission drains it. This is scheduled for November.

Appointment of an auditing firm to conduct the yearly audit of the city books was considered. A motion was passed to have the city manager contact some firms and report back to council.

Harry Zubkoff appeared to report on the latest developments in the Twenty-fifth Anniversary Celebration.

Greenbelt Beauties on TV

Pretty Jane Brooks was elected Queen of the Greenbelt Festival at the height of the Labor Day celebration. Sponsored by the American Legion, she was chosen from among thirteen contestants, each representing a local organization.

Queen Jane will be interviewed on the Buddy Dean show, WJZ, Channel 13 (Baltimore) on Tuesday, September 25, between 5:30 and 5:45 p.m. Appearing with her will be Festival Princesses Peggy Highland, who was sponsored by the Little League, and Frances Caldwell, the Lions Club entry. Claudette Walton will also appear. Claudette, who represented High's Dairy, was elected "Miss Congeniality" in an informal vote taken by her fellow-contestants for the Miss Greenbelt title. Festival chairman Eli Don Bullian will accompany the girls to the studio.

Anniversary Calendar

September 30, 3 to 5 p.m., Woman's Club tea at Youth Center.

October 14, 12 to 5 p.m., Open House at Goddard Space Flight Center.

October 27, Anniversary Ball at the Armory.

Now or Never

Anniversary Ball tickets will be on sale to the general public for the last time Friday evening, September 21 (tomorrow) from a table set up in the middle of the center. This announcement was made by Harry Zubkoff, Chairman of the Silver Anniversary Committee.

This will be the last opportunity for residents to purchase tickets, he stressed, noting that many people who have indicated that they want tickets have not yet bought them. If any tickets are left over after Friday, they will be distributed among participating organizations. Some tickets will also be made available to former Greenbelters from the surrounding area who have expressed a desire to attend the Ball.

Plan Express Bus

Martin Holly, 45-S Ridge, presented a citizens' petition requesting express transit service to Greenbelt and Goddard Space Flight Center at a meeting September 6. Holly, Chairman of Prince Georges County Citizens Public Transit Committee; Greenbelt Mayor Francis White; and C. E. Pickett, representing Goddard, met to discuss the transit petition with metropolitan and D. C. Transit officials.

Mayor White presented a detailed picture of the building program presently in progress in the Greenbelt area and the plans for the future which will bring in a large population increase into Greenbelt. He stressed the need for fast public transportation and urged that, for that reason, favorable consideration be given to the Transit Committee's petition.

Martin Holly, representing the Transit Committee, presented a petition containing several hundred signatures requesting express bus service to Greenbelt and the Goddard Space Agency. He discussed the public transit need of Greenbelt as reflected by the petition request stipulations. He stated that since the Transit Company would have full bus rides both ways, to and from Greenbelt, because of the Space Center, a $5.00 commuter ticket fare, for 10 rides was realistic to insure a profitable operation. Holly pointed out that the present fare to Hollywood, Maryland, was 55c per ride and involved a greater distance with many local stops.

Pickett stated that a serious need for such public transportation existed in the Space Agency. "We plan to add 1600 employees to our Staff within the next year and bring our total figure up to 5000 employees within two years", he said. "Our Recruitment Program is seriously affected by our isolation. People without private transportation means cannot reach our Center."

Bell, speaking for the Transportation Company, noted however "that a 44 seat bus to Greenbelt would basically cost $1.00 per mile to operate". He further stated "that a bus crossing the state line would be subject to a 'added seat tax, insurance and license cost and for that reason, the Committee's $5.00 per 10 ride figure was not realistic."

The meeting adjourned with a

School Enrollment

Enrollment this year at North End School was 312 students, down 6% over last year's total, according to Mrs. Maxine Grimm, principal. New teachers on the staff are Mrs. Dorothy Wemple, Mrs. Nell Shore, Mrs. Hulda Bomberger, Mrs. Louise Lewis, Mrs. Patricia Kaufman and Mrs. Lucy Wolfe.

Ferdinand Cardano, Center School principal, reports an enrollment of 327, a decrease of 4.4% from last year. New teachers include Mrs. Dorothy Bulloch, Mrs. Bernice Raleigh, Mrs. Betty McElderry and Mrs. Flora Willard. Mrs. Irma Emanuel is the new clerk.

Both North End and Center School have 10 grade teachers and two specials, a physical education and music teacher, the latter Miss Ann Riccardo who is a recent graduate of Catholic University.

St. Hugh's reports a total of 439 students. This is a 2% increase over last year's total of 430. The staff includes the principal, Sr. Laurential C.S.C., 8 sisters, and 2 lay teachers.

Greenbelt Junior High School has an enrollment of 896, up 1.8% over last year's total. Francis Furgang is the principal and Mr. Anderson, vice-principal. There are 42 teachers on the staff (including 2 guidance counselors, special education teacher, librarian), and a full time nurse.

High Point High School opened its doors to approximately 2,000 students with classes beginning at 8 o'clock for one group followed by another group at 9 and the last shift at 10. "Such a shift has made it possible for us to offer each student a full day of school in spite of the increased enrollment," was the statement made by Allan I. Chotiner, principal. Due to this split arrangement the staff at High Point has been drastically increased to ninety one faculty members and seven clerks.

City Notes

Work is proceeding according to schedule on various building and road-construction projects, City Manager Charles MacDonald reported this week. At Spring Hill, the first floors are going up, and brick work is under way. Excavation for the new Klein's Department Store at the Beltway Plaza shopping center is also proceeding rapidly.

Progress has been made on the installation of curbs on Parkway. This work will be done gradually, as conditions permit. The dualizing of Glendale Road from the Baltimore-Washington Parkway to Enterprise Road is proceeding with great speed. The land has already been graded all the way to the Space Agency.

The proposed Boxwood subdivision is being redesigned by the builder. Additional recreational areas will be provided, in accordance with the recommendation of the Park and Planning Board.

decision that the Transit Company would make a detailed cost study of the proposed operation.

Maintenance of Additions to GHI Homes is Member Responsibility

by Al Skolnik

The board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., has reaffirmed its policy of not accepting responsibility for structural defects in additions. Certified letters to this effect will be mailed to all members who have purchased GHI units with additions.

The occasion for this action was an appeal at the Thursday, September 13, meeting by John F. Downs, 4-D Crescent, for GHI maintenance assistance to correct structural defects in his addition. He had bought the house in June 1961 from the previous owner, who had built the addition. Shortly thereafter the walls began to crack and settle, the window frames bowed, and gaps appeared where the addition and original unit were joined.

GHI has had a policy since August 1954 of not accepting responsibility for structural defects in additions, although responsible for structural defects in the original units. Consequently, no extra maintenance charges are levied for persons with additions. Extra charges, however, are levied for heating maintenance and repairs which the corporation is responsible for in both original units and additions.

(The 1954 board policy resolution read as follows: "That structural changes be maintained by the owner, with the exception of exterior painting which, if done by GVHHC, will also include the additions".)

Downs stated that his contract does not contain any distinction in treatment between the original unit and the addition. Therefore, his addition should be entitled to the same services as his original unit.

Director Bill Helm agreed with Downs that a purchaser of a unit with an addition has nothing in the contract to inform him of the fact that he cannot look to the corporation for structural maintenance of his addition. He therefore voted against the otherwise unanimous board decision not to make an exception in this case.

Notification

General manager Roy Breashears pointed out that as a matter of routine procedure all new purchasers of units with additions are informed of board policy denying responsibility for maintenance of the additions. Helm did not disagree with the policy but stated that unless the purchaser receives something in writing to this effect, the policy should only apply to the builder of the addition.

Director Frank Lastner stated

Mrs. Roosevelt Cancels

Illness has caused Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to cancel her visit to Greenbelt on October 23. A telegram informed the Silver Anniversary Committee: "Her doctor's orders make it necessary for her to cancel all speaking engagements for the next six months."

Capital Beltway Progress

The State Roads Commission of Maryland has announced award of a contract on the Capital Beltway.

The project calls for grading, drainage and surfacing of the Interstate loop from the Baltimore-Washington Parkway (U. S. Route 59).

The award was made to the Williams Construction Company of Baltimore, at an amount of $3,911,263.

It includes 3.7 miles of main line roadway, five miles of interchange ramps and dual bridges over the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Progress reports on the Capital Beltway now indicate that the Expressway will be open to traffic in its entirety in 1964 and highway officials will press to establish an early completion date that year. In order to expedite construction Maryland road builders are holding conferences with contractors and others involved in the project.

As an Interstate highway the Capital Beltway is financed out of 90 per cent Federal funds administered by the Bureau of Public Roads and 10 per cent State funds.

that this would not be fair to other members of the corporation, since owners of additions are not paying any extra charges to cover maintenance contingencies. It was also pointed out that the new GHI Handbook (page 25) states that "Maintenance and repairs of additions are the member-owners' responsibility, since the mutual contract agreements with all members provide for maintenance and repair of the basic dwelling only."

Helm took issue with this interpretation of the contract, but Breashears produced a legal opinion from GHI counsel, Krooth and Altman, substantiating the view that GHI has no legal responsibility for providing repairs and maintenance to additions.

The board asked management to develop a rider or attachment to the contract which would clearly outline the areas of responsibility of the corporation with respect to additions. The board also expressed sympathy for Downs' plight and suggested that the maintenance department offer whatever assistance it can within the limits of board policy.

Proposed Changes

The board heard proposals to change both its auditing and attorney services. Audit Committee Chairman Bernard Bordenet argued that as a matter of general principle the corporation should change auditors every five years, at the least. In this way, he said, the corporation would have the advantage of receiving advice from several sources. He also asked that the scope of the audit be changed to include a management audit as well as a fiscal audit.

Helm proposed that the corporation consider engaging on a retainer basis Maryland attorneys rather than District of Columbia attorneys, Krooth and Altman, who do not have a license to practice in Maryland. GHI at present employs local Maryland attorneys to handle its affairs before Maryland courts. Krooth and Altman are used to handle administrative and governmental matters of a co-op legal nature.

Director Ed Burgoon did not see the purpose of making changes when satisfactory services are being obtained. Helm argued, however, that GHI attorneys should be close to the Greenbelt scene. The matter was placed on next meeting's agenda, as were also the recommendations of Bordenet.

Basements

GHI has received word from its insurers that use of the boiler rooms as storage areas would not increase premiums of its fire insurance. The Firemen's Mutual representative, however, recommended that a water sprinkler system be installed. The board is continuing to study means of permitting limited use of basement areas for storage, and management is preparing, as a first step, a list of non-combustible items that could be approved for basement storage.

Tid-bits

GHI garages are not for the storage of airplanes — is the latest decision of the board. Believe it or not, the corporation had one such case The GHI office in the center is now being staffed on weekends. Personnel shortages had prevented manning up to now GHI reports only $140 in vacancy losses for the first six months of 1962 The board voted to finance cost of Asian flu shots for key GHI employees The board reaffirmed its policy of making land available for additional parking space, but cost must be borne by city Joseph Kendall, chairman of standards and improvements committee, is in dire need of additional committee members. If interested, call GR 4-8098 Medical insurance rates for GHI employee insurance have been increased to $6.36 per month for the family plan and $2.50 for the individual plan.

Ask Parents' Aid

To the Editor:

I would like to write a few words about the Youth Center and its need of adult interest. I doubt very much if the parents of most of the members (both Juniors and Seniors) realize their responsibility to the organization as so few of them are willing to share their part of work in order to make it function smoothly.

Each parent of each member should be willing to give an evening when called upon to chaperone and help the director with his duties.

It is a tremendous job for any one person to keep order, discipline and lend guidance to the many young people who attend on weekends.

I, personally, would be happy if all the parents showed more interest in our worthwhile Youth Organization. Offer your services frequently and enjoy the wholesome atmosphere and enthusiasm of the youth of your community.

For further information and inquiries, James Wooldridge, Director of the Youth Center, would be happy to hear from any and all parents willing to help NOW.

Turner-Fonda

Professor and Mrs. Arlin Turner of Durham, North Carolina, announce the engagement of their daughter, Arline Elizabeth to Richard Weston Fonda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Gibson Fonda, 6-A Ridge.

Miss Turner, a graduate of Duke University, made her debut at the Durham Cotillion and Christmas Ball. At Duke University she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

She recently returned from the Friday Harbor Labs, Friday Harbor, Washington, where she was doing graduate work under a National Science Foundation grant. This fall she plans to complete work on her master's degree at Duke.

Fonda received his A.B. degree at Duke University, where he was affiliated with Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. He entered the University of Illinois graduate school this fall as a teaching assistant in botany.

Honors Queen

To the Editor:

The Labor Day Festival, as reported by the News Review, was one of the best the City could remember, credits to Sgt. Green and Eli Don Bullian were well deserved, winners of the various contests were given recognition for their talents, and the various activities were dutifully reported.

The careful planning of the line of march began with Sgt. Green as Parade Marshal, the Council and then the Queen. To date, I have not found any reference to the lovely young lady, Miss Jane Brookes, popularly selected to serve as Miss Greenbelt for the coming year.

How can the only local paper overlook and insult the many people who voted for her, and expect the Queen and the other contestants to feel it was worth the effort without any recognition from the News Review.

Rather than suppress this event in this Silver Anniversary year, her reign should be made an event of great honor. To forget her at this time is to imply that her coronation is of no importance, and was not a favorable decision to you. It's like Atlantic City newspapers forgetting to report Miss America!

Rather than demoting our Queen, it is time the News Review began promoting Miss Greenbelt.

Dick Pilski

(Editor's Note: The omission of reference to the election of the Festival Queen was not intentional but emphasizes the frequent difficulty of your newspaper in covering local events with inadequate staff. As you know, we depend upon local organizations to contribute news of their affairs. We also welcome any volunteers to join our reporting staff.)

GCS Area Congress

At Monday night's meeting representatives for Greenbelt's 2600 members to the governing Congress of Greenbelt Consumer Services continued for a third month to make a record about twice as good as last year's in attendance. Nine of the delegation of thirteen met with six visitors and two of staff.

Most consideration went to the ceremonies of the new store's opening, now estimated for November 10. The committee for this purpose submitted a plan, written by Al Herling and already accepted in outline by the Board. The delegation approved it for further development.

Bresler Plans Announced To Start 21 Houses Now

Charles Bresler has announced that construction of the first 21 houses in his new project on Lakeside Extended will begin within the next week. They will be ready for occupancy between February 15 and March 1, weather permitting.

A total of 61 houses will be built. The remaining 40 will be started in December, and a September occupancy date is planned. All the houses (to range in price between $25,000 and $35,000) will have a view of the lake; some will have balconies with patios beneath them.

All houses will have four or more bedrooms, air conditioning, all-electric kitchens with dishwashers, and family rooms off the kitchen. Styles will include split levels, ramblers, and bi-levels (for sloping lots).

Recreation Program

With fall approaching, the Greenbelt's recreation scene changes. At present, there are two full time persons with the department, Recreation Director James Wooldridge and Assistant Director Richey Stephenson and a part-time secretary (7½ hrs. per week), Mrs. Betty Lehman. Teen club activities are warming up for an active season, and a teen director will be assigned to the Youth Center by the Prince Georges County Recreation Department.

SQUARE DANCING CLASSES

A series of 16 weekly lessons for adults in square dancing will begin Wednesday, September 26, at Takoma Park Junior High School, 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. Instructing will be the area caller, Paul Hartman. Advance registration is required. For further information and registration, call the registrar, Fran Hartman, at WH 6-5241.

The first session on September 26 will be an introductory dance at no charge. Everyone is invited.

Orchestra Seeks Players

The University-Community Symphony Orchestra sponsored by the University of Maryland will begin rehearsals on Tuesday evening, September 25th.

Membership in the orchestra is open to all qualified musicians in the community at large, in addition to the university students, faculty and staff members. The full orchestra will rehearse once a week on Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. in the rehearsal hall upstairs in the Armory on the College Park campus. A limited number of wind and string instruments are available for use by those who do not own their own instruments. A series of four concerts is planned for the season.

The orchestra has a new conductor this season who has just joined the university music faculty. He is Emerson Head, former director of instrumental music at Wake Forest College. Head is also a former conductor of the University of Michigan Little Symphony and the Jacksonville (Fla.) Youth Symphony and has been on the conducting staff at the Brevard Music Center in North Carolina.

The first concert will be held on December 5, featuring Joel Beriman, violin instructor at the university and former conductor of the orchestra, as soloist. Interested musicians may call the music department office at WARfield 7-3800, extension #207, or call Head at 779-9678 for further information.

Police News Review

There are now four stop signs at the intersection of Hillside and Northway. The ordinance, calling for the placement of the two new stop signs on Hillside at that intersection, is in effect as of September 20.

Bicycle licenses are still being issued every Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Firehouse.

A gentleman, who parked his car in front of the Greenbelt Realty company in order to use a near-by pay phone, was asked by employees of the company to move his car. He inquired at the police office to find out who owned the property and was told that the parking area was the private property of the Greenbelt Realty people.

The owner of a bake shop in Langley Park was called last week and a wedding cake was ordered, supposedly by a woman in Greenbelt. When delivery was made to the address given, it was found that no such cake had been ordered by the person whose name had been given. The delivery man reported the matter to police.

Miscellaneous car accessories were found strewn on the driveway leading to the Youth Center one evening last week. The items seemed to be parts that had been discarded by someone possibly cleaning his car.

Five large holes were punched in the wall of the Laundromat last week. Police suspect this to be the work of youths who were waiting for the school bus which picks them up at the Center each morning.

Another report of breaking and entering was received from the Youth Center last week. Approximately $20 had been taken from the cash box.

Vandalism was again reported at the Center School. Mr. Ferdinand Cardano, the new school principal, reported that two windows had been broken. Beer cans and bottles were found outside the school and a beer bottle and large stone were found inside.

A portable typewriter and case were found in the driveway near some garages this week. Police are holding it for a possible lost report.

Did you know that the preamble of the Constitution is carved on the outside of the Center School building? Ferdinand Cardano, principal, pointed out that this had special significance this week since Monday was Constitution Day. He told his students "The symbols serve to remind us of what we stand for."

The Greenbelt Concert Band supplied the dinner music for over 2,000 guests at the Masonic and Eastern Star Home on New Hampshire Avenue. The annual bazaar was held on the lawn, and the music delighted everyone. Last Saturday, the band played at the State Republican Dinner at the University of Maryland. Many of the 1,000 persons present expressed pleasant surprise that such a Concert Band existed in the area, and were very interested to learn how the organization functioned. Practice sessions are held every Monday evening at the Youth Center, 8 p.m.

Did You Know?

That about 12,000 shrubs, saplings and plants of original Greenbelt were preserved in a nursery during the clearing of the land and then transplanted back around the newly-constructed homes.

That when government authorities estimated that original Greenbelt homes will last a minimum of 60 years, some engineers were skeptical and predicted a lifetime of less than 25 years (The Evening Star, October 7, 1939).

Subcommittee Approval

Another hurdle was crossed last week when a Senate Interior subcommittee passed a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to sell twelve acres of land to Holy Cross Lutheran Church. This is the piece of land, part of Greenbelt Park, that has been cut off from the remainder of the park by construction of the Capital Beltway. The bill previously was passed by the House.

League Speakers Available

The Speakers Bureau of the County League of Women Voters is prepared to give talks to any civic, educational, fraternal, or similar group which is interested in knowing more about the community or the world. Program chairmen of local organizations who are beginning to think about fall programs may contact the League for knowledgeable and non-partisan speakers on the following subjects: Know Your Country, How to make your vote count, Planning and Zoning in Prince Georges County, and the two issues which will appear on the ballot in November, Charter and Redistricting.

Arrangements can be made with the League for special talks on such topics as the United Nations, Trade, and Reapportionment. All talks are tailored to the needs of the organization.

The League of Women Voters is a public service organization whose purpose is the informed and increased participation in their government. It does not oppose or support candidates. Extra Help for Us by Earl Zubkoff

A strange thing, which none of those present will ever forget, took place at the News Review office on Thursday. Beginning at 11 p.m., unbelievable events continued for approximately two hours. At 11, three pencils suddenly jumped up and began writing articles! At 11:10, several rolls of tape started to put copy on the dummy sheets, while all the reporters stood dumbfounded. With the coming of several other surprises, such as old Co-operators filing themselves in the cabinets, whole rows of books straightening themselves out, and everything loose in the office putting itself away, the work was soon done. As all of the women staff members had fainted (as well as half of the men), the others didn't notice that everything had stopped — everything, that is, with the exception of one pencil. That pencil, as was later discovered, was industriously writing the following words on the wall: "Zorro was here!"
